D-Ocean Still Life SC133

D-OCEAN Still Life is a sumptuous underwater scene with corals and fish as well as many other marine creatures. What is striking is the scale of the corals and the extraordinary array of fish that don't belong to the same waters as well as other creatures who may be in shell form or alive. Overall, because of the way the decor is painted, there is the atmosphere of a still life reminding us of the 1920's. While our oceans are agonising, Dimonah's new scenic is a perfect decorative fantasy but also a discreet reminder of this rich and hidden beauty we could lose (or save).
